

5.0 credits	30.0 h	This biannual course is taught on years 2010-2011, 2012-2013, ...

Teacher(s) :	Bonmariage Cécile ;
Language :	Français
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes :	The course will consist of a critical reading of texts authored by thinkers from the Arab-Islamic cultural sphere, and will situate them in their particular context, indicating their importance for the history of thought. The goal of the course is to allow students to attempt their own readings of " Arab " philosophical texts, by furnishing them with the linguistic, philosophical, and historical tools necessary for this task.
Aims :	Upon successful completion of the course, students should be able to analyze in a critical manner philosophical texts produced in the Arab-Islamic cultural sphere. The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Content :	The course will have two parts : The first, this year, will concentrate on texts by Averroes dealing with the question of the noetic (concept of thinking and knowledge) and the relation between philosophy and religion. The second part will read texts by Ibn Arabi about the voyage of the Prophet to Jerusalem, which for the Sheikh Al-Akbar is a means of putting forth a conception of the mystical.
Other infos :	Prerequisites :  Reading knowledge of Arabic is advisable but not absolutely necessary. It is sufficient if students have had a course in the history of Arabic philosophy, or a background level of knowledge of Arab philosophy which is equivalent.
