Content :	The first part (15 h) consists in lectures, while the seminar part will take the form of workshops. During the first part, the following themes will be presented : (i) the goals and objectives of the teaching of Dutch as a foreign language; (ii) the description and illustration of approaches, aids and teaching/learning techniques in the field of Dutch as a foreign language; the role of "tasks" in

	language learning and teaching will be examined in detail; (iv) the conception and critical discussion of teaching/learning sequences (including formative and certificative testing). In the first part of the seminar session (15 h), students present lessons/ teaching sequences which are analyzed and discussed in connection with their further reading, personal experience and first teaching practice. This part is devoted to micro-teaching : students choose their own subject matters, present a so-called teaching period and the different parts of their lessons are analysed and discussed by the peers. In the second part of the seminar session (20h), The students will take part in a variety of activities enabling them to practise and improve their communication skills and their command of the (mainly spoken) language. A few examples of situations or activities include: debates and discussions, role plays, short lectures, lessons taught, self-study of grammar and vocabulary, self study of "classroom language". Before each activity the students will receive a range of tools (communication techniques, language functions, general and specialised vocabulary, grammatical reminders,) and resources (written and audiovisual documents, web sites,), which will enable them to be fully efficient in the activities organised, provided they have taken the trouble to prepare those activities carefully. Feedback will be given and remedial exercises may be suggested. Clear, detailed instructions will be given to the students before each activity.
Other infos :	Prerequisites: The students are asked to do some further readings (articles, manuals and information found on the web). Assessment : The oral examination consists in: 3.the oral presentation and discussion of the teaching/learning sequence which has been presented and analysed during the seminar part of the course. This new presentation will integrate the remarks, suggestions and advice expressed by the peer group and the advisor during the initial presentation. It should be stressed that class participation is clearly essential to the educational goals of this course. If listening material is included in the didactic sequence, it makes part of the exam and will be handed-over to the assessor when the examination takes place. 4.an oral exam for communicative competence which will reflect the situations and activities covered in class. The students' communicative competence will be assessed, as well as their knowledge of the course notes (vocabulary, grammar, pronunciation, and " classroom language "). Final assessment will also take account of the work done during the quadrimester. (continuous assessment). Course materials. Syllabus for part one. Course notes Communication skills for student teachers for part two.
