Teacher(s) :	Obsomer Claude ; Schmidt Andrea Barbara ; De Callatay Godefroid ; den Heijer Johannes ; Vielle Christophe (coordinator) ; Haelewyck Jean-Claude ;
Language :	Français
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes :	Oriental studies are here primarily regarded as a discipline with its own historiography as well as with its peculiar epistemological and methodological approach. Next, they are considered in relation with the main areas of studies (linguistic, philological, literary) as they are investigated and specifically taught at the Oriental Institute.
Aims :	By the end of the course, students will have acquired a detailed overview of the full range of Oriental studies, enabling them to decide what to specialize in later on in their bachelor program. The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Content :	The course provides an introduction to the following fields: epistemology and methodology of Oriental studies; Indo-European comparativism; Semitic comparativism; Egyptology; Assyriology, Anatolian studies; Christian Oriental studies (Armenian, Georgian, Aramaean/Syriac, Coptic, Aethiopian, and Arabic); Byzantine studies; Slavistics; Arab-Muslim studies; Indology and Asian studies. Depending on the field concerned, emphasis is put on linguistics, philology or literature.
Other infos :	Course entry requirements: None Assessment: evaluation and certification by way of a written (multiple choice) exam, along with a short essay based on bibliographical investigation and readings in relation with one part of the course.
