LSEXM2232
2010-2011
Psychopathologie et thérapies familiales, conjugales et sexuelles

6.0 credits	45.0 h

Teacher(s) :	Verhofstadt Lesley ; Reynaert Christine ;
Language :	Français
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes :	Various methods of individual, marital, family and group psychotherapy treatment as well as different sexual, marital and family pathologies, especially : absence of communication, excessive aggression, pathological jealousy, family and marital violence, abuse and incest, impotence and frigidity. Special emphasis is on the concept of the designated patient, rigidity of the system, intergenerational transmission and symptoms as the solution for the survival of the system together with social and legal aid structures and mediation. In the last part of the course, the differential psychopathology of the sexes is covered.
Aims :	Students who have taken this course will be able to make a diagnosis and specify the most appropriate means of psychotherapeutic, psychiatric or psychosocial treatment both for the diagnosed disorders and the reported problems, for implicit and explicit requests, for the contextual dimensions as well as for the psychological situation and the financial resources of the family or the couple in question. The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Content :	Lectures are given by lecturers with wide clinical experience. Students are required to have read various texts including accounts of clinical cases. Videos.
Other infos :	Prerequisites: SEX 2145 or PSP 1267 Psychology and health Assessment : the methods of assessment will be explained by the lecturer(s) at the beginning of the course. Support : bibliography and reading folder.
Cycle and year of study :	> Master [120] in Family and Sexuality Studies > Advanced Master in Forensic Medicine
Faculty or entity in charge:	ESFA