Prerequisites :	/
Main themes :	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Introduction to the history of the discipline, its theoretical framework, methodologies and subfields through the teaching of specific research instruments. 2. Provide an example of a completed study in comparative literature.
Aims :	Analyze one period and one or more streams of European literature using a comparative perspective. Provide students with a basic understanding of this period and streams of literature, placing the latter in the broader context of the connections that European culture has progressively established across different countries, constituting a unique civilization sharing common evidence, references and connivances. Familiarize students with the aims, essence and methodologies of comparative research, and introduce them to the theoretical foundations of the comparative approach. Students are expected to demonstrate that they have acquired the skills taught during the course and that they have mastered the historical background and literary material characterizing the period and the streams of literature analyzed throughout the course. The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Evaluation methods :	The evaluation of this course will be an oral exam constituted of two parts: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) a part which will focus on the content of lectures and required readings; 2) a part which will focus on the content of the individual comparative reading written paper.
Teaching methods :	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Lecture 2) International Congress De l'humain au post-humain : le double et ses récits (December 11th, Louvain-la-Neuve) 3) Writing of an individual comparative reading paper to be presented during the oral exam
Content :	The Double : figures, stories, poetry will be the focus of the 2012-2013 general and comparative literature course. Representations of the double and the stories of duplicity abound in literary history and suppose different paradigms (doppelgänger, double, mirror, clone etc). This course will outline a systematization (chronological, thematic and theoretical) of this notion, through a number of authors clearly related to the literary tradition of the double (including Dostoievki, James, Meyrinck). This comparative analysis will allow both to reconstruct a possible history of the double in its meanings and typologies and to apprehend the concept of duplicity.
Bibliography :	Required readings DOSTOÏEVSKI Fédor, Le Double, trad. du russe par Gustave Aucouturier, Paris, Gallimard, 1980 (Folio classique), 288 p. JAMES Henry, Le Coin plaisant, in Histoires de fantômes, traduction par Louise Servicen, Paris, Flammarion, 2012 (GF bilingue), 201 p.
