Teacher(s) :	Reynaert Christine ; Zdanowicz Nicolas ;
Language :	Français
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes :	Formulation of a topic and hypotheses for research and selection of an appropriate method of collecting data, either bibliographical or empirical. The lecturers determine the ways in which this is to be done. This may involve, for example, critical examination of certain articles, books or dissertations.
Aims :	This seminar is organized by a team of lecturers. It provides an epistemological and methodological consideration of the most practical research in psychodynamic and systemic psychology. It also provides students with a practical introduction into clinical practice through the critical examination of certain published cases. By the end of this seminar, students will be better equipped to produce their dissertation. The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Content :	There is a multiparadigmatic approach to the seminar, organized by different lecturers. Students are required to demonstrate active participation.
Other infos :	Prerequisites : SEX 2232 and 2234 Assessment : the methods of assessment will be explained by the lecturer(s) in charge at the beginning of the course.
