Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes :	These objectives will be achieved after a presentation of the characteristic axes of monastic and scholastic theologies. The birth, the main theologians of the XII century and the important syntheses of the scholastic theology will be studied with some indications on the late scholastic and the heterodox doctrines.
Aims :	At the end of this activity, the student will be able to <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - make the difference between various types of theology practised in the Middel Ages (methods; sources; literary genres; historical, cultural, institutional contexts). - use the main tools in the field and deepen a specific question in a personal research. The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Content :	2011-2012 The lectures of this year will deal with the theme of creation. That God is creator of heaven and earth is an essential feature of christian faith. How did the Middle Ages theologians understand it? Is the biblical narrative of Gen 1 to be taken literally? How is the discrepancy between the biblical concept of creation and the doctrines of greek philosophers about world genesis to be considered? As a mark of the truth of christian faith either of the falsehood of philosophical pagan doctrines or as an opportunity to extend the theological understanding of divine creation by elucidating its content by means of philosophical categories? The course will take into account the diverse theological methods used in the Middle ages (monastic theology, scholastic theology, and the beginnings of positive theology) and consider their relevance with regards to the creation issue.
