Teacher(s) :	Wénin André ;
Language :	Français
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes :	In order to achieve this end, - a group of Old Testament texts, selected for their methodological or theological interest, will be studied; - particular attention will be paid to the method, in order to introduce the students to critical research in biblical exegesis or theology.
Aims :	At the end of this course, the student will be able to offer a scientifically accurate comment of an Old Testament text, situating its particular contribution in the general topic of the course. The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Evaluation methods :	The mode of evaluation will be specified at the beginning of the course.
Content :	2014-2015 The verb yare' ("fear") and its derivatives pose a difficult question. They express an emotion negative (awe, fear) or positive (awe, admiration), but also a personal or collective attitude that may be related to faith. The question arises especially when the object is God. After a general introduction to the subject, we will read a variety of texts (mostly narrative) where the meaning of the vocabulary of "fear" changes (eg Gen 28; Exod 14; 1 S 12, etc.). The goal is to clarify the issue on the basis of an interpretive framework developed, on the basis of the psychology of emotions, by P. Van Cappellen in a memoir entitled Yr 'as an emotion from a few texts from the Old Testament (UCL, 2014; prom. A. Wénin). The main method will be narrative analysis.
Other infos :	Prerequisite : A good introduction in the narratologie (if possible applied to biblical texts).
