Evaluation methods	For the first exam session the students taking the course are assessed on the basis of their participation in FIDEC Huy and the individual work that they submit. Students taking part in the third exam session will be set an individual assignment.
Teaching methods	The students use the professional program EZTitles©. The LSTI subtitling assignments are first reviewed in a number of audiovisual files. The students take part in FIDEC Huy, subtitling the shorts to be screened in the festival. This work is done in pairs. For the second part of the course each student subtitles a video file individually and independently.
Content	The course is taught in the computer room with machines running EZTitles© software. The teaching is professional training. Students are trained to deliver a final product that would meet the quality requirements of the workplace.
