This biannual learning is being organized in 2018-2019

Teacher(s)	Driessen Jan ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Aims	The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Evaluation methods	Continuous evaluation during seminars (50% points) and final research paper based on lecture by student(50%).
Teaching methods	Can change from one year to the other and takes into consideration the type of research developed at that very moment at the UCL; students may be asked to assist at cycles of lectures and to submit a critical analysis; lectures followed at other universities are also taken into consideration for such a report. The seminar may also include an excursion to the Aegean with personal research by the student and oral presentation on a site or monument in Greece itself. It can also be in the form of a series of articles to read and to critically analyse and the presentation of a PPT on a particular theme by the student.
Content	In 2016-2017, the main theme is the crisis at the end of the Late Bronze Age in the Aegean and East Mediterranean. This also allows cross disciplinary approaches as well as diachronic and interregional studies of crisis archaeology.
