Evaluation methods	All the preparation and analysis will be validated at the time the courses are completed, and the assessment, supported by evaluation charts, will focus on how the tools for preparation and analysis have been implemented during the trainings.
Teaching methods	The training planning and analysis will be mostly under the student personal responsibility, but he/she will be equipped, supported and followed by the training supervisors and the director.
Content	For each teaching training that must be performed (see the ROM 9011), the student will prepare the activity with the support of some analysis charts of the teacher activity (for observation training), then with the support of planning schemes and examples of teaching sequences (for teaching training). Before starting a teaching training, he/she will also submit his/her planning to a supervisor, who will discuss with him/her any amendments thereto. After each training, he/she will produce an oral and / or written reflexive analysis to be transcribed at the end of the trainings into a final written report (as part of ROM 2920 Theory and analysis of French teaching practices)
