

In view of the health context linked to the spread of the coronavirus, the methods of organisation and evaluation of the learning units could be adapted in different situations; these possible new methods have been - or will be - communicated by the teachers to the students.

5 credits	15.0 h	Q2
-----------	--------	----

Teacher(s)	Laghouati Sofiane ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	The course offers a historical overview analysing both the technical and the aesthetic changes in the book and its design. This involves observing and understanding what constitutes the elements of the 'book' and describing the entirety of methods and materials, notably graphics, that transform it into a commercial product and a cultural and symbolic object of value.
Aims	Acquire a graphic culture that makes it possible to understand as easily as possible developments in the book in a global media market in which this medium is and has been at one and the same time an object of culture and art, of communication, but also of consumption. Raise awareness in future publishers, booksellers and librarians of the economic, cultural, political and even philosophical issues of the text/image/format relationship, not only of the book, but also of other media (newspapers, magazines, internet) with which it is in dialogue and in competition. This is a matter of: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> - understanding the future of the book medium so as to be in a position to understand a publishing and creative market that is increasingly protean (various speakers from the book trade will visit to give an account of their experiences in the field); - understand the main high points in the history of the book, both as a form and as a format for information, so as to be able to consider all its possibilities, avatars and epigones. - understand developments in graphic design, its history, its current status in its encounter with the book. ---- The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Evaluation methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. The context is a role-play: 'As the person responsible for an editorial project, the student must promote a single work or a collection with a view to its impending release. He/she will be allowed between 10,000 and 15,000 characters (including spaces) and 10 images to carry out the work. He/she will create the promotional tools for a contemporary work/collection (2010 to the present day) in which the relationship text/image/format is notably evident. He/she will emphasise the roles of the different actors (author, illustrator, graphic designer, publisher) and the significance of the object created. This production may take the form of a notebook, a blog, a web site, or a brochure (taking great care with the relevance of the choice of format)... He she will make sure of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the page layout and the choice of illustrations and graphic design • the presentation of the work and its author, placing it in its historical context and highlighting its originality.
Teaching methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. Formal lectures / students will be encouraged to contribute, converse and enrich the teaching content
Content	8 classes + meetings with book trade and publishing professionals + visit to the rare book collection of the Musée royal de Mariemont + follow-ups of student work General introduction (2 hours): the text/image/format relationship Emergence of the book : what revolution(s)? (4 hours) Images in the book (15th/18th centuries) (2 hours)

	Illustration and graphic design in the 19th century (2 hours) From Art Nouveau to the new graphic arts (2 hours) Graphic postmodernism: what beginnings for what ends? (2 hours) Guidance + follow up of the progress of students' work (2 hours)
Bibliography	Plusieurs ouvrages seront présentés aux étudiants en début de chaque séance
Other infos	Several published works will be presented to the students at the beginning of each session
Faculty or entity in charge	ROM

Programmes containing this learning unit (UE)
Program title	Acronym	Credits	Prerequisite	Aims
Master [120] in Ancient Languages and Literatures: Oriental Studies	HORI2M	5
Master [120] in Ancient and Modern Languages and Literatures	LAFR2M	5
Master [120] in French and Romance Languages and Literatures : General	ROM2M	5
Master [120] in Ancient Languages and Literatures: Classics	CLAS2M	5
Master [120] in Modern Languages and Literatures : General	ROGE2M	5		