

In view of the health context linked to the spread of the coronavirus, the methods of organisation and evaluation of the learning units could be adapted in different situations; these possible new methods have been - or will be - communicated by the teachers to the students.

Teacher(s)	Lewis Xavier (compensates Sibony Anne-Lise) ;Sibony Anne-Lise ;
Language :	English
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	This course covers the core of substantive EU law, namely internal market law. More precisely, it deals with the four freedoms: free movement of goods, freedom of establishment, freedom to provide services and free movement of capital. It also covers citizenship and offers a brief introduction to EU competition law. This course complements the basic course on EU law [LDROI1226], which focuses on EU institutions and deals with how legislation is produced as well as enforcement mechanisms of EU law. This course focuses on the content of (some) EU rules. It is complementary with other courses that cover other aspects of EU substantive law such as free movement of (natural) persons [LDREU2205], EU competition law [LDREU2208] or Firms and antitrust [LDFIRM2207], EU consumer law [LDREU2207] or EU labour law [LDROP2143].
Aims	Learning outcomes specific to EU lawAfter taking this course, you will have a basic command of internal market law and possess the know-how to apply the relevant legal rules in simple factual situations. You will be familiar with how various sources of European law interact, in particular treaty and directives. Generic learning outcomesThis course also aims to provide opportunities to acquire horizontal skills that are useful beyond the practice of European law, in particular: 1) being able to identify legal rules applicable to a given factual situation and relevant in order to reach a practical aim; 2) being able to present in writing the legal analysis of a given factual situation clearly and correctly. At the end of the course, you will be able to identify whether or not European law governs a given factual situation. You will be capable of solving simple problems involving one or several of the four freedoms and develop on your own a legal reasoning following the most common patterns which will have been studied during the course. ----- The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Evaluation methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. The exam is a 3 hour written exam. It will take place in IT rooms (you write your exam on a computer -- with a French keyboard, sorry). You will be able to access Curia and Eur-Lex, as well as Lingee and Wordreference for linguistic assistance. The exam consists of one hypothetical and several questions (examples will be provided). The questions will be in English. You may choose to answer in French, but beware that Frenghish is not accepted. This means that, if you want to opt for French, you will need to study the technical vocabulary of free movement law in French. To this effect I strongly recommend that you read the French version of legislation and at least part of the case law studied in this course. Assessment criteria are as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ability to correctly identify a legal issue in a given factual situation, • ability to identify correctly the applicable rule • ability to enunciate clearly a legal rule • ability to adequately explain applicable legal rules (taking into account who your fictitious interlocutor is) • ability to justify the choice of a legal rule with regard to practical aims • exact knowledge of legal rules • ability to select relevant knowledge in relation to a given question or problem, • logical reasoning, • quality and sufficiency of reasons given to justify the analysis proposed or the point of view argued, • correct use of legal vocabulary • adequate structure of written answer (link with the question, logical order of arguments, link between sentences and between paragraphs)
Teaching methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. In 2019-2020, Prof. Sibony is on sabbatical and the course will be taught by Xavier Lewis (European Commission) Readings will be assigned before each class. For some classes you will have to research a hypothetical question.

Content	This course covers the core of substantive EU law, namely internal market law. Other infos	For the exam, you may bring a hard copy of the EU treaties (since you will have access to Eur-Lex, this is not strictly necessary). You may also bring the course pack. Authorised documents may not be annotated (nothing may be written on the documents). You may highlight passages and use flags to navigate the course pack more easily. On the flags you may write a few letter or words, such as "FMG" for Free Movement of Goods, or "Keck" for the eponymous case. You may also bring a dictionary (monolingual or bilingual) though you will have access to online linguistic tools.
