This biannual learning unit is not being organized in 2019-2020 !

Teacher(s)	Lesch Walter ;
Language :	English
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	In order to attain the objectives that have been set, the course will concentrate each year on a different theme that will allow the relationships between different orientations in philosophical ethics to be seen - concrete issues of "applied" ethics and methodological reflection. The conceptual analysis will be accompanied by case studies.
Aims	By the end of the course the student shall be able 1 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • to analyse selected topics in the field of moral philosophy; • to develop a well argued point of view, taking a position relative to various approaches to ethics; • to use appropriately the tools of research in philosophy and in interdisciplinary collaboration. ----- The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Evaluation methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. The elements of evaluation are the regular and active participation, the writing of a short essay (maximum 5 pages on a subject that can be chosen among the topics of the course) and an oral exam.
Teaching methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. There will be lectures and important interactive moments based on texts that have to be read by all participants. English will be the working language of this course.
Content	The Ethics of Migration (2018-2019) Migration has become an urgent and controversial topic in public debate. Is it legitimate to close the borders? Who can be considered a refugee? What are the rights of economic migrants? How does immigration transform the structure of host societies? Ethics and political philosophy are not able to give final answers to all these questions. However, philosophy should be prepared to contribute to the debate by a reconstruction of the moral issues which are at stake.
Inline resources	Texts are available on Moodle.
