Teacher(s)	Mostaccio Silvia ;
Language :	Italian
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	The aim of the course is the study of how Italian literature and culture had an influence in Europe and internationally, through networks of relationships which became established between Italy and countries all over the world (Europe, North and South America, Australia and Africa). Through this perspective we will analyse literary movements, authors and works which, starting from Italy, had an impact on the literature, poetry and culture of other linguistic and literary regions (e.g. Dante in Latin America, visits to Italy made by European writers, Manzoni and the European historical novel, migration and Italian literature between the XIXth and XXth centuries etc.). These comparative approaches will enable students to understand the place and the role of Italy in a more global perspective, at particular times relating to international literary history and culture. This analyses will bring out the special characteristics of Italian writers and their work, while also emphasising the links of continuity which these authors and their creations form with work from other parts of the world.
Aims	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. to be able to analyse movements, authors and literary works in the Italian language ; 2. to be able to make a relationship between these Italian movements, works and authors with writers and literary and cultural works from all over the world ; 3. to be able to make use of a comparative approach to gain greater understanding of Italian literature and culture ; 4. using the Italian example, to be able to interpret literature as an open, international system. ----- The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
