Q1 and Q2

Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	It consists of a work of a more limited scope than a Master Dissertation, consisting in a status quaestionis of a subject relevant to the discipline of the Masters and which can be completed in a year.
Aims	The individual final project must demonstrate the student's ability to describe correctly the results of a personal, objective and methodical work. The length of the work is not a criteria in evaluating its quality. As with the other forms of learning, the final dissertation is an essential component of the programme to which it belongs. 1 The project irrespective of the subject, allows a student to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • summarise a given scientific topic; • put a specific issue in context drawing on existing information; • present the results of the dissertation. ----- The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
Evaluation methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. The final project work will be evaluated by the promoter and a reader. The average of their respective marks will determine the final mark for the work. When evaluating the work, the promoter and the reader will take account of the following factors: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • his ability to formulate the object of the research and to correctly state it or a working hypothesis; • his mastery of the various research tools both bibliographic and documentary; • the quality of the data collected and its interpretation; • the expression and coherence of the work; • the accuracy, clarity and rigour of the written work; • the respect of the formal limits to the presentation of a written work. There is no oral defence of the individual final project.
Content	The individual final project at Masters level, is a personal contribution to scientific knowledge on a question of a limited scale. Through this work, which is the final achievement of his studies, the student will prove that he has acquired the principal methodology of the studies of Antiquity, notably in the fields of Classical languages, literatures or civilisations. The student must show himself capable of following the essential stages of scientific research, that is the definition of the problem, followed by collecting primary sources, bibliography and other research data, to evaluating and interpreting the documents concerned, as well as elaborating a synthesis and reporting on the results obtained. The main body of the written work, excluding bibliography, illustrations and annexes, should consist of about 50 to 75 pages (that is between 100.000 and 150.000 characters).
