This learning unit is not being organized during this academic year.

Teacher(s)	Dujardin Vincent ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Prerequisites	The prerequisite(s) for this Teaching Unit (Unité d'enseignement – UE) for the programmes/courses that offer this Teaching Unit are specified at the end of this sheet.
Main themes	The historical approach to international relations is an essential way of understanding contemporary socio-political phenomena. Whether analysing international, universal or regional balances, or examining national foreign policies, taking into account their historical foundations is essential if we are to understand their constitutive dynamics and the processes that determine them.
Aims	At the end of this seminar, the student will be able to deal with a question of the history of international relations from the point of view of heuristics, source criticism and data interpretation. He or she must be able to write a research report that delineates the initial question and summarizes the hypotheses put forward, the difficulties encountered and the results obtained. 1 ----- The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled "Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit".
