Teaching methods	Due to the COVID-19 crisis, the information in this section is particularly likely to change. The course is accompanied by PowerPoint presentations. The information is also on iCampus.
Content	This class will study how authors' imaginaries are inserted into and make the material of literary textuality. We will analyse the structure of the forms and figures that are active in the literary text, through narratological and semiological approaches. We will address the following issues: intertextual sources (literary, mythological, etc.), and other sources (artistic, religious, anthropological...), as well as the impact of their particular context (geographic, historical, social, psychological...). It will also deal with the reception of works, understood as the encounter of two imaginaries (the author's and the reader's) within the text.
Bibliography	La bibliographie est déterminée chaque année en fonction de la problématique choisie. Elle se trouve sur icampus.
Other infos	The corpus for study comes from contemporary French literature (19 th century to the present day).
Faculty or entity in charge	ELAL
