UCLouvain

larke1351

2021

Fieldwork and internship (excavations, museums, laboratories, fieldtrips...)

5.00 credits	100.0 h	Q1 or Q2
--------------	---------	----------

This learning unit is not open to incoming exchange students!

Teacher(s) Roucloux Joël (coordinator) ;Verslype Laurent (coordinator) ; I Language : French Place of the course Louvain-la-Neuve Prerequisites / Main themes / Learning outcomes At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to :		7
Prerequisites / Main themes / Learning outcomes At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to: 1	Teacher(s)	Roucloux Joël (coordinator) ;Verslype Laurent (coordinator) ;
Prerequisites / Main themes / Learning outcomes At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to:	Language :	French
Main themes / Learning outcomes At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to: 1	Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Learning outcomes At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to: 1	Prerequisites	/
Evaluation methods Half of the evaluation is based on the points given by the tutor of the host institution. The other half of the evaluation concerns the placement report written by the student. Teaching methods The people responsable for the UCL internship (archeology and art history) validate the student's internship project and accompany the establishment of the training agreement. Content The internship consists of a simulation of a professional situation in which the student has to participate in one the following organisations: an archeological excavation site; one of the multiple museum/heritage sectors; the various cultural enterprises or institutions in the art trade sector; scientific laboratories where technical conservation and restoration of cultural property is applied. Accompanied by a UCL internship coordinator, the student establishes a training agreement with a host institution working in the field of interest. The student performs the internship while being supervised by the tutor of the host institution. For the archeology students' internships, the training period can last up to 20 working days depending on the selected activity. The course is ended by the validation of 4 credits of duly justified activities. A combination of the available activities is possible. The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to	Main themes	1
Content Teaching methods The people responsable for the UCL internship (archeology and art history) validate the student's internship project and accompany the establishment of the training agreement. The internship consists of a simulation of a professional situation in which the student has to participate in one the following organisations: an archeological excavation site; one of the multiple museum/heritage sectors; the various cultural enterprises or institutions in the art trade sector; scientific laboratories where technical conservation and restoration of cultural property is applied. Accompanied by a UCL internship coordinator, the student establishes a training agreement with a host institution working in the field of interest. The student performs the internship while being supervised by the tutor of the host institution. For the archeology students' internships, the training period can last up to 20 working days depending on the selected activity. The course is ended by the validation of 4 credits of duly justified activities. A combination of the available activities is possible. The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor.	Learning outcomes	, and accompany the establishment of the training agreement. The internship consists of a simulation of a professional situation in which the student has to participate in one the following organisations: an archeological excavation site; one of the multiple museum/heritage sectors; the various cultural enterprises or institutions in the art trade sector; scientific laboratories where technical conservation and restoration of cultural property is applied. Accompanied by a UCL internship coordinator, the student establishes a training agreement with a host institution working in the field of interest. The student performs the internship while being supervised by the tutor of the host institution. For the archeology students' internships, the training period can last up to 20 working days depending on the selected activity. The course is ended by the validation of 4 credits of duly justified activities. A combination of the available activities is possible. The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor.	Evaluation methods	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · the following organisations: an archeological excavation site; one of the multiple museum/heritage sectors; the various cultural enterprises or institutions in the art trade sector; scientific laboratories where technical conservation and restoration of cultural property is applied. Accompanied by a UCL internship coordinator, the student establishes a training agreement with a host institution working in the field of interest. The student performs the internship while being supervised by the tutor of the host institution. For the archeology students' internships, the training period can last up to 20 working days depending on the selected activity. The course is ended by the validation of 4 credits of duly justified activities. A combination of the available activities is possible. The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor.	Teaching methods working in the field of interest. The student performs the internship while being supervised by the tutor of the host institution. For the archeology students' internships, the training period can last up to 20 working days depending on the selected activity. The course is ended by the validation of 4 credits of duly justified activities. A combination of the available activities is possible. The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. EHAC	Content	the following organisations: an archeological excavation site; one of the multiple museum/heritage sectors; the various cultural enterprises or institutions in the art trade sector; scientific laboratories where technical conservation selected activity. The course is ended by the validation of 4 credits of duly justified activities. A combination of the available activities is possible. The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. Faculty or entity in EHAC		working in the field of interest. The student performs the internship while being supervised by the tutor of the host
A combination of the available activities is possible. The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. EHAC
The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having respected the conditions of the host institutions. Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. EHAC
Art history students may select a practicum according to their interests. They can either choose from a list of internship places or propose a new place of internship. The new place of internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. EHAC		The student must achieve a cumulative working period of at least 10 days in an institution or on a site while having internship must be approved by the UCL representative. The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days. Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. Faculty or entity in EHAC
Other infos Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship; document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. Faculty or entity in EHAC document placement agreement; a list of potential internship sites; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. EHAC EHAC		The training period lasts a minimum of 10 working days.
document placement ; a list of potential internship sites ; guidelines for writing the internship report and a criterium-referenced assessment sheet of the course to be completed by the tutor. Faculty or entity in EHAC	Other infos	Students have documents containing instructions regarding their internship;
r active of critics in charge	Faculty or entity in	EHAC charge

Programmes containing this learning unit (UE)
Program title	Acronym	Credits	Prerequisite	Learning outcomes
Bachelor in History of Art and Archaeology : General	ARKE1BA	5		Q			