Language :	Spanish
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Prerequisites	LFIAL1740
Main themes	We will look at a corpus of short literary texts (narrative, poetic and theatrical works) using a progressive approach. To begin with, the emphasis will be on the development of short forms in the Spanish speaking world (especially the microrrelato of the 19th and 21st centuries). At a later stage, we will undertake an analysis based on the main categories of narratology and stylistics. A methodical procedure for analysing texts will be put forward.
Learning outcomes	At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to : This course is designed to provide students with the foundations of methodology for literary analysis by means of short contemporary texts (stories, poems, mini-theatre from the 19th, 20th and 21st centuries) from Spanish literature. By the end of the course, students should be able to 1 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • site a text within the system of literary genres of the Spanish-speaking world ; • know the main characteristics and stages of development of each genre ; • identify, with a critical eye, the main narratological and stylistic categories in a short literary text.
Evaluation methods	Written exercises during the semester, with formative evaluation. Written final exam. If the health situation so allows, there will also be an assessment on oral performance.
Teaching methods	Lectures; individual and group exercises.
Content	The course offers a reasoned exploration of short genres in 19th, 20th and 21st century Hispanic literature. After a brief summary about the literary genres, the poem, the micro-fiction and the short theatre will be considered in turn.
