⚠ This biannual learning unit is not being organized in 2021-2022 !

Teacher(s)	Jacquemin Dominique ;Lesch Walter ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	To reach the aims, the seminar will: - address some methodological questions and selected areas where ethical analysis play a crucial role today ; - focus specifically on bounds between practical issues and the relevance of fundamental reflections ; - study with a particular interest the status of religious dimension in debates about values and norms.
Learning outcomes	At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to : 1 - to make a research in the field of applied ethics ; 2 - to use conceptual tools of current research in ethics ; 3 - to communicate orally and by paper the results of his research.
Evaluation methods	A regular and active participation is necessary. After a general introduction to the seminar, participants will choose their topic for an oral presentation. This presentation serves as the starting point for the written paper to be evaluated in June. There is no oral exam. The seminar is open to interested people with an interdisciplinary perspective (master or PhD level) coming from philosophy, theology, religious studies, social and political sciences, etc.
Teaching methods	A seminar is not a series of lectures. It will focus on the dynamics of individual and collective research.
Inline resources	Selected documents will be available sur Moodle.
Faculty or entity in charge	TEBI
