

5.00 credits

30.0 h

Q2

Teacher(s)	Willems Geoffrey ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	This course aims to integrate the teaching of human and family law into a general socio-political reflection on the respective roles of the individual, the family and the State (or civil society) in contemporary society when it comes to determining the norms of the private and family life of individuals. The course proposes an interdisciplinary approach in which human and family law is considered in the light of various non-legal human sciences (psychology, philosophy, sociology, history, anthropology). Within the framework of such an approach, the rules of human and family law will be compared with texts from these different disciplines (Françoise Héritier, Paul Veyne, Claude Levi-Strauss, etc.).
Learning outcomes
Evaluation methods	Students will be evaluated by an oral and open-book examination held during the June session.
Teaching methods	This course aims to integrate the teaching of human and family law into a general socio-political reflection on the respective roles of the individual, the family and the State (or civil society) in contemporary society when it comes to determining the norms of the private and family life of individuals. The course proposes an interdisciplinary approach in which human and family law is considered in the light of various non-legal human sciences (psychology, philosophy, sociology, history, anthropology). Within the framework of such an approach, the rules of human and family law will be compared with texts from these different disciplines (Françoise Héritier, Paul Veyne, Claude Levi-Strauss, etc.).
Content	This course aims to integrate the teaching of human and family law into a general socio-political reflection on the respective roles of the individual, the family and the State (or civil society) in contemporary society when it comes to determining the norms of the private and family life of individuals. The course proposes an interdisciplinary approach in which human and family law is considered in the light of various non-legal human sciences (psychology, philosophy, sociology, history, anthropology). Within the framework of such an approach, the rules of human and family law will be compared with texts from these different disciplines (Françoise Héritier, Paul Veyne, Claude Levi-Strauss, etc.).
Inline resources	Course notes and Power Points are available to students for each course. Readings are also made available to them via Moodle.
Faculty or entity in charge	BUDR

Programmes containing this learning unit (UE)
Program title	Acronym	Credits	Prerequisite	Learning outcomes
Master [120] in Anthropology	ANTR2M	5
Master [120] in Law	DROI2M	5
Master [120] in Communication	CORP2M	5
Master [120] in Law (shift schedule)	DRHD2M	5
Master [120] in Family and Sexuality Studies	SEX2M	5
Master [120] in Sociology	SOC2M	5
Master [120] in History	HIST2M	5
Advanced Master in Gender Studies	GENR2MC	5
Master [120] in Psychology	PSY2M	5
Master [120] in Ethics	ETHI2M	5
Master [120] in Philosophy	FILO2M	5
Master [120] in Journalism	EJL2M	5
Master [120] in Criminology	CRIM2M	6		