UCLouvain

lpatr2150

2023

Parcs et jardins historiques, vestiges archéologiques et biens ruinés

7.00 credits	56.0 h	Q2

damages and degradation) and plans to manage historic parks and gardens. The appreciation of the term "historic garden" as a living monument (charter of Florence) and all components (monumental, vegetal, and landscaped) requires the acquisition of thorough knowledge the history and the evolution of art and gardens from Antiquity to the present. The courses also include the specific constraints and conditions which determine the conservation of the archaeological element preserved in situ or monument in ruins. The pathologies will covered along with methods and protection techniques to preserve, consolidate, maintain and moniments and their remains. These topics will be reviewed within the decision making framework. All in their valorisation, conservation-restoration, partial reconstitution, anastylosis and their integration in new structures built to expose and/or protect them. At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to: At the end of this learning unit, the student will be able to grasp the monumental and vegetal particularities of historic parks and gardens in order to deduce the intrinsic interest in regards to history. The student will also be able to define research, inventories and the specific diagnostics necessary for its proper conservation-restoration. The student will understand the specificities of preventive conservation on an archaeological diste as well as the conditions put in place for the success of a decision making process aiming to conserve the remains of ruins. The student will be considered will be able to decision making process aiming to conserve the remains of ruins. The student will be considered will be considered will be considered will be considered will be particularly to conserve the remains of ruins. The student will be considered will	Language :	French
damages and degradation) and plans to manage historic parks and gardens. The appreciation of the term "historic garden" as a living monument (charter of Florence) and all components (monumental, vegetal, and landscaped) requires the acquisition of thorough knowledge the history and the evolution of art and gardens from Antiquity to the present. The courses also include the specific constraints and conditions which determine the conservation of the archaeological element preserved in situ or monument in ruins. The pathologies will covered along with methods and protection techniques to preserve, consolidate, maintain and moniments and their remains. These topics will be reviewed within the decision making framework. All in their valorisation, conservation-restoration, partial reconstitution, anastylosis and their integration in new structures built to expose and/or protect them. At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to: At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to: At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to grasp the monumental and vegetal particularities of historic parks and gardens in order to deduce the intrinsic interest in regards to history. The student will also be able to define research, inventories and the specific diagnostics necessary for its proper conservation-restoration. The student will understand the specificities of preventive conservation on an archaeological dissite as well as the conditions put in place for the success of a decision making process aiming to conserve the remains of ruins. The student will be able to scars affecting dialogus between all the parties concerned in development and maintenance projects. Evaluation methods Written and /or oral exam evaluated by a jury. Lectures, workshops, conferences and practical exercises. Content History, management and conservation of historic parks and gardens. Archaeological remains and ruins. Each coordinator of educational activites communicates learning material via the website for t	Place of the course	Autre site
At the end of the course the student will be able to grasp the monumental and vegetal particularities of historic parks and gardens in order to deduce the intrinsic interest in regards to history. The student will also be able to define research, inventories and the specific diagnostics necessary for its proper conservation-restoration. 1 The student will understand the specificities of preventive conservation on an archaeological digit site as well as the conditions put in place for the success of a decision making process aiming to conserve the remains of ruins. The student will be conscious of the factors affecting dialogue between all the parties concerned in development and maintenance projects. Evaluation methods Written and /or oral exam evaluated by a jury. Evaluation methods Lectures, workshops, conferences and practical exercises. Content History, management and conservation of historic parks and gardens. Archaeological remains and ruins. Each coordinator of educational activites communicates learning material via the website for the degree masterpatrimoine.be Les ouvrages imposés sont mis à la disposition des étudiants au Centre d'Information et de Documenta de la Paix-Dieu et/ou dans les bibliothèques des institutions partenaires. The imposed reading is at students' disposition in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La figure is a stituent of the particular of the lateral point in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La figure is the and also in partner universities' libraries.	Main themes	The appreciation of the term "historic garden" as a living monument (charter of Florence) and all its components (monumental, vegetal, and landscaped) requires the acquisition of thorough knowledge of the history and the evolution of art and gardens from Antiquity to the present. The courses also include the specific constraints and conditions which determine the conservation-restoration of the archaeological element preserved in situ or monument in ruins. The pathologies will be covered along with methods and protection techniques to preserve, consolidate, maintain and monitor monuments and their remains. These topics will be reviewed within the decision making framework. Also in their valorisation, conservation-restoration, partial reconstitution, anastylosis and their integration into Teaching methods Lectures, workshops, conferences and practical exercises. Content History, management and conservation of historic parks and gardens. Archaeological remains and ruins. Inline resources Each coordinator of educational activites communicates learning material via the website for the degree masterpatrimoine.be Les ouvrages imposés sont mis à la disposition des étudiants au Centre d'Information et de Documenta de la Paix-Dieu et/ou dans les bibliothèques des institutions partenaires. The imposed reading is at students' disposition in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La Figure 1.	Learning outcomes	At the end of the course the student will be able to grasp the monumental and vegetal particularities of historic parks and gardens in order to deduce the intrinsic interest in regards to history. The student will also be able to define research, inventories and the specific diagnostics necessary for its proper conservation-restoration. The student will understand the specificities of preventive conservation on an archaeological dig site as well as the conditions put in place for the success of a decision making process aiming to conserve the remains of ruins. The student will be conscious of the factors affecting dialogue
Content History, management and conservation of historic parks and gardens. Archaeological remains and ruins. Each coordinator of educational activites communicates learning material via the website for the degree masterpatrimoine.be Les ouvrages imposés sont mis à la disposition des étudiants au Centre d'Information et de Documenta de la Paix-Dieu et/ou dans les bibliothèques des institutions partenaires. The imposed reading is at students' disposition in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La Financial Dieu site and also in partner universities' libraries.	Evaluation methods	Written and /or oral exam evaluated by a jury.
Archaeological remains and ruins. Each coordinator of educational activites communicates learning material via the website for the degree masterpatrimoine.be Les ouvrages imposés sont mis à la disposition des étudiants au Centre d'Information et de Documenta de la Paix-Dieu et/ou dans les bibliothèques des institutions partenaires. The imposed reading is at students' disposition in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La Financial Dieu site and also in partner universities' libraries.	Teaching methods	Lectures, workshops, conferences and practical exercises.
masterpatrimoine.be Les ouvrages imposés sont mis à la disposition des étudiants au Centre d'Information et de Documenta de la Paix-Dieu et/ou dans les bibliothèques des institutions partenaires. The imposed reading is at students' disposition in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La Poieu site and also in partner universities' libraries.	Content
Bibliography de la Paix-Dieu et/ou dans les bibliothèques des institutions partenaires. The imposed reading is at students' disposition in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La Poieu site and also in partner universities' libraries.	Inline resources	Each coordinator of educational activites communicates learning material via the website for the degree : masterpatrimoine.be
Faculty or entity in charge FIAL	Bibliography	The imposed reading is at students' disposition in the Information and Documentation Centre at the La Paix
active of charge	Faculty or entity in charge	FIAL

Programmes containing this learning unit (UE)
Program title	Acronym	Credits	Prerequisite	Learning outcomes
Advanced Master in Heritage Conservation and Restoration	PATR2MC	7		Q			