

4.00 credits

30.0 h

Q2

Teacher(s)	Adam Françoise ;Wéry Aline ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Learning outcomes
Evaluation methods	The evaluation will consist of a written assignment in order to encourage students' clinical reflection.
Teaching methods	The course will be delivered either face-to-face and/or by Teams depending on the evolution of the pandemic Each lecturer will bring a specific perspective on issues related to conjugality. The methods used are designed to encourage clinical reflection: - Interactive lectures with discussion space - Individual and/or group reading of articles - Analysis of clinical cases - Videos - group activities
Content	The main objectives of this course will be to question current issues around the couple and sexuality in particular: - The place of sexuality; - How to approach sexuality with couples and identify sexual dysfunctions; - Infidelity and its consequences; - Couple and reproduction (Medically assisted reproduction, reproductive coercion; - The place, representations and different configurations of the couple in contemporary society. - The couple and new technologies (dating sites and applications, online sexuality, cyber-infidelity, etc.). - Life cycles and their impact on the adaptation of the couple.
Other infos	- This course requires active presence and participation of the students; - The course is given in French on Fridays from 14:00 to 16:00 in Q2; - The written work to be handed in for the evaluation can be done in French or in English
Faculty or entity in charge	ESFA

Programmes containing this learning unit (UE)
Program title	Acronym	Credits	Prerequisite	Learning outcomes
Master [120] in Family and Sexuality Studies	SEX2M	4		