HIST9CE - Information

Learning outcomes

This programme is designed for those who have a 2nd cycle university degree and who wish to have additional training in the field of history.

Teaching method

The courses make use of a variety of teaching techniques and strategies (lectures, group work, individual work, seminars, reading etc.) which help students to acquire the necessary skills. Certain courses also use e-learning techniques (provision of resources and exercises, teaching devices, collective sharing and assessment of work).

Evaluation

According to the type of course, there are different forms of assessment. Certain courses have traditional oral and/or written assessments (which take place in the examination periods in January, June and August/September), while seminars involve student participation throughout the semester and the assessment of individual work. Further details on the assessment method are given at the beginning of each course.

Course examinations on communication skills are designed to test performance, that is to say practical use of the language in meaningful situations, which demonstrate students' level of ability.

Teaching activities are assessed in accordance with the rules currently in force at the University (see General Examination Regulations). Students may also find additional information on the particular methods of assessment in the course descriptions.

HIST9CE - Detailed programme

Programme by subject

This year-long programme is drawn up in collaboration with the lecturer in charge of the certificate, taking account of the previous studies and the subject area chosen by the student.

It is based on historical criticism and its application to a period or field of history. It includes courses on related subjects, a seminar and, at the end, a final assignment intended to demonstrate the candidate's skills in research and criticism of sources, the definition of an issue and the synthesis of all the material.
