FILO2240 Advanced Studies in the Philosophy of Natural Sciences

[30h] 4 credits

This course is taught in the 2nd semester

Teacher(s): Bernard Feltz, Michel Ghins
Language: french
Level: 2nd cycle course

Aims

The aim of the course is to allow the students to deepen their understanding of specific, and current, questions in the philosophy of science by opening a dialogue with contemporary science. The students should sharpen their analytical and critical skills and should be able to defend a personal position taken with regards to the central issues in Contemporary philosophy of science.

Main themes

The topics discussed change from year to year: we alternate between discussing questions linked either to the philosophy of physics or to the philosophy of the life sciences.

Concerning the philosophy of physics, in previous years we have studied the following topics: the status of models in the sciences, theories of causalities, scientific realism, the constructive empiricism of van Fraassen. Concerning the philosophy of the life sciences, we have studied the following topics: reductionism, finality, time and self-organization, philosophy of neuroscience, conscience and intentionality, the question of qualia
