This course is taught in the 2nd semester

Teacher(s):	Hubert Roland, Hubert Roland (supplée N.)
Language:
Level:	1st cycle course

Aims

Acquiring a method of analysis for one or more literary genres though the analysis of canonical contamporary texts (19th, 20th, 21st century). This course will provide students with basic scholarly methods and tools enabling him/her to approach a literary text critically (poems, novels and short stories, plays).

Main themes

Close in-depth critical study of contemporary canonical texts. This course will introduce strudents to basics of narratology, stylistics and genre theory. Several literary texts (poems, novels, short stories, plays) will be analysed methodically.

Content and teaching methods

Students will acquire the skill to read literary texts critically through a reprentative sample of excerpts from the German tradition of the 19th and 20th centuries. Different techniques will be studied enabling students to analyse narrative texts. The first part of the course will be devoted to the specific questions related to Erzähltheorie (the structuring of narrative time and space, narrative perspective, focalisation, internal structure of the narrative, ...), which will allow a better contextualization of the excerpts that are studied.
