RELI2850 Present-day Problems in Pastoral Theology and Catechetics

[30h] 2.5 credits

Teacher(s): Philippe Cochinaux
Language: french
Level: 2nd cycle course

Aims

The course aims to make students capable of rigorously analysing situations envisaged, of assuming a critical stance in relation to them and, based on this, of discerning the pastoral choices that are possible and desirable.

Main themes

Under the responsibility of a pastoral agent in the field, each year the course takes on a challenge that has been judged particularly relevant. It seeks to cover the vast field of pastoral work, catechetics, spirituality or communication. Relying on written, oral or audio-visual testimonies, the course seeks to lay out critically the "seeing," the "judging" and the "acting," characteristic of any well thought out pastoral action.

Content and teaching methods

This course is ordinarily offered by invitation, for a year or two, to a person involved in an area of pastoral action and theological reflection.
