

Faculty of Applied Sciences

AUCE1402 L'architecture et la ville 2 [15h] (2 credits)

[15h] 2 credits

This course is not taught in 2005-2006

This course is taught in the 2nd semester

Teacher(s): Christian Gilot
Language: French
Level: First cycle

Aims

By the end of the course, students will be able to:

Understand the emergence of different views of the city, in a field of tension between rupture and continuity.

Identify concepts belonging to modern architecture, take the measure of their ambitions in regard to urban and territorial projects, and develop elements of critical analysis.

Main themes

Following a brief summary of different manifestations of modernity, the course will review in a structured manner the major developments and upheavals in the constitution of urban structures.

The idea of the avant-garde and the various positions taken up at the beginning of the 20th century will be discussed, insofar as they relate to the relationship of architecture to the arts and to technology.

The search for collective forms of housing will be presented and analysed as an example of new ambitions for architecture, as well as new spatial objectives.

The course will take care to identify the major works of the modern movement and of critical counter-movements.

Content and teaching methods

/

Other information (prerequisite, evaluation (assessment methods), course materials recommended readings, ...)

Other information (Prerequisites, Evaluation, Support...)

AUCE 1401 : Architecture and the City 1