

Faculty of Psychology and Education Sciences

FOPA2220 Interpersonal communication and group management

[37.5h] 7.5 credits

Teacher(s): André Boussard, André Buron (coord.)
Language: French
Level: Second cycle

Aims

1. To enable a consciousness of his own attitudes and favoured mode of communication at the interpersonal and group level.
2. To analyse the main phenomenon related to the interpersonal relations and to the interactions lived inside groups (field of relation and group dynamics).
3. To get a training on the intervention in work teams, in adult training groups.

Content and teaching methods

1. Recorded situation scenarios and analysis of professional experiences chosen by the students according to their needs and practices of formation.
2. Each student will propose the analysis of one situation of communication. According to the size of the group, the individual expectancies will be more or less combined in the collective exercises.
3. The differed postview of the video recordings will allow to objectivise and to analyse the tested situations. The observation and auto-observation skills will also be systematically trained.
4. The tested and reported situations will be systematised on a theoretical level and linked to the psychosociology paradigms treated in various places, namely during the course of social psychology and in the management workshops. Some intelligibility approaches borrowed to the relational psychology and to the group dynamics will be introduced during times of synthesis. At least two sessions will be devoted to the models of participation and intervention in a group work.

Other information (prerequisite, evaluation (assessment methods), course materials recommended readings, ...)

The evaluation will be formative, with a summative evaluation on a synthetic work (individual written report).

This course will be given in small groups of about 14 students (+/- 3) with videoformation.

It follows educational methods fitted for adults including the link between theory and practice, group work, formative assessment and steps of individual and group appropriation of the contents. Illustrations from the various fields of education and from adults formation : continuous education, specialized education, school field, etc.

Programmes in which this activity is taught

FOPA2                      Licence en sciences de l'éducation