

Faculty of Arts and Letters

GLOR1511 History and society of the Near East and Ancient Egypt I

[30h] 3 credits

This two-yearly course is taught in 2006-2007, 2008-2009,...

Teacher(s): René Lebrun, Claude Obsomer
Language: French
Level: First cycle

Aims

This course, designed as an introduction to the ancient Near-Eastern and Egyptian civilisations, aims at giving students an overview of the historical and geographical background of these civilisations.

Main themes

By emphasising the written sources at our disposal, The course provides the chronological and geographical framework of the ancient Near-Eastern and Egyptian civilisations, and next focuses on the main periods and key reigns.

Content and teaching methods

The course deals with the ancient Near-Eastern (Asia Minor, Syria and Mesopotamia) and Pharaonic Egyptian civilisations. Historical introduction : geographical and chronological framework ; historical introduction: geographical and chronological framework; sources at the base of historical reconstructions; principle periods and key reigns; points of contact between different civilisations

Other information (prerequisite, evaluation (assessment methods), course materials recommended readings, ...)

Course entry requirements: none.

Evaluation: Students will be assessed orally at the end of the year on their knowledge of the course and their required reading.

Course material: A summary of the course and a bibliography will be provided. The course is richly illustrated.

Other credits in programs

HORI2BA	Deuxième année de bachelier en langues et littératures anciennes, orientation orientales	(3 credits)
HORI3BA	Troisième année de bachelier en langues et littératures anciennes, orientation orientales	(3 credits)