

Faculty of Arts and Letters

HIST2501 Seminar : an epistemological approach to history

[15h]

This course is taught in the 2nd semester

Teacher(s): Michel Dorban
Language: French
Level: Second cycle

Aims

The seminar aims to examine the value of the methods of the historian which permit the elaboration of his knowledge. The methodology is based upon the practice of each participant, at the level in which he is situated at the moment: in the course of his thesis, after his thesis, or in the course of his doctorate. Each step of historical research gives rise to a debate around a series of theoretical questions brought up by epistemology applied to History; each participant responds to them from his experience as a historian. The responses are recorded in a written work defended at the time of examination.

Content and teaching methods

The seminar aims to examine the value of the methods of the historian which permit the elaboration of his knowledge. The methodology is based upon the practice of each participant, at the level in which he is situated at the moment: in the course of his thesis, after his thesis, or in the course of his doctorate. Each step of historical research gives rise to a debate around a series of theoretical questions brought up by epistemology applied to History; each participant responds to them from his experience as a historian. The responses are recorded in a written work defended at the time of examination.

Programmes in which this activity is taught

ANTR3DS Diplôme d'études spécialisées en anthropologie
HIST2A Agrégation de l'enseignement secondaire supérieur (histoire)

Other credits in programs

ANTR3DS Diplôme d'études spécialisées en anthropologie
HIST21 Première licence en histoire (1.5 credits)
HIST22 Deuxième licence en histoire (1.5 credits)
HIST2A Agrégation de l'enseignement secondaire supérieur (histoire) (2 credits)