

Faculty of Law

INT2337 International and European transport law

[30h] 4.5 credits

This two-yearly course is taught in 2006-2007, 2008-2009,...

This course is taught in the 1st semester

Teacher(s): Benoît Goemans, Bernard Hanotiau
Language: French
Level: Second cycle

Aims

The course focuses mainly on the study of multi-modalism, i.e. the principles that are common to the different modes of transport.

Main themes

Transport by road, rail, sea and air is addressed. The particular legal regime is analysed in each case (international conventions, European law and Belgian norms, as well as technical aspects, customs and case-law), ensuring that emphasis is also placed on the principles that are common to these forms of transport.

Content and teaching methods

The lectures offer students the structural elements that are necessary to understand concepts and practice. Active participation adapted to their level of study is required of them.
