

Faculty of Psychology and Education Sciences

PSY1335

Clinical neuropsychology: instrumental and language disorders

[30h] 2.5 credits

This course is not taught in 2005-2006

Language: French

Level: First cycle

Aims

- presentation of the major neuropsychological semeiologies in the field of language, praxias and executive functions
- familiarisation with the cognitive approach of the disorders
- reminder of the notion of cognitive architecture and of clinical work on case studies

Main themes

Part 1 : instrumental disorders

- apraxias : definition, semeiology, etiopathogeny, interpretative models
- hemisensory neglect : definition, semeiology, etiopathogeny, interpretative models
- executive functions : definition, semeiology, etiopathogeny, interpretative models
- calculation disorders : definition, semeiology, etiopathogeny, interpretative models

Part 2 : language disorders : definition, classification of aphasias, lesion localisation, semeiology, etiopathogeny, interpretative models (lexical, syntactic, semantic disorders)

Content and teaching methods

The course is an introduction to the major semeiologies of neuropsychology. It also introduces to the examination methods and to the theoretical work of the disorders interpretation. Various pathologies will be exemplified with case studies and videos.

Other credits in programs

PSP13BA/P Troisième année de bachelier en sciences psychologiques et de (2.5 credits) l'éducation (majeure en sciences psychologiques)