ROM1313 French Linguistics: General Issues in Linguistics

[30h] 3 credits

This course is not taught in 2005-2006

Language: French

Level: First cycle

Aims

To help students be aware of the lexical phenomena, either through the development of the instruments of description or through the search of the lexical origin.

Main themes

Diachronical study of the French lexicon: tools of description, development of the etymology.

Content and teaching methods

After a brief presentation of the French lexicon (original one before borrowing from other languages and without neologisms), the course will try to show the growing awareness of the lexical phenomena, through the emergence of lexicography, and this up to the most recent forms of description (electronic dictionaries, etc). Alternately, the etymology and its methods will also be analysed.

Other information (prerequisite, evaluation (assessment methods), course materials recommended readings, ...)

Evaluation : Oral exam, with a paper to present at the exam.

Teaching materials : Selective bibliography.
