Admission conditions

The "licence" programme in Dental Sciences is accessible to holders of the first cycle of university studies diploma ("candidature") in Dental Sciences.

General structure of the programme

The three years of the second cycle of university studies ("licence") include theoretical and practical courses, clinical courses and apprenticeships.

- In the first year of the programme, the student will follow the theoretical and practical courses. From the second quadrimester on, he will assist a practising dentist in the clinical treatment of his patients.
- The second year consists of theoretical courses but these mainly focus on active apprenticeships in clinics. Here, the student will treat the patients himself under the supervision of the assistants and lecturers.
- The third year is essentially dedicated to clinical practice.

WARNING

The Royal Decree limits the number of dentists who can be awarded specific professional titles to 56 (in 2002 and 2003). These titles were listed in the Royal Decree of 25 November, 1991 and concern the titles of "Generalist Dentist" and "Specialist Orthodontic Dentist ". The practical procedures for awarding the specific titles have still to be fixed.
