

Faculty of Economic, Social and Political Sciences

TRAV2 Licence en sciences du travail (Diploma of the Second Cycle (Licence) in Work Sciences)

Programme management

TRAV Conseil des sciences du travail (ESPO)

Study objectives

The second university study cycle ("licence") consists of pluridisciplinary studies focusing on the observation and comprehension of social phenomena of work in their globality. This programme addresses people who have already acquired basic training in "candidatures" or in higher education, or those who, through their professional commitment or their interests, wish to acquire complementary knowledge based on sociological, economic, juridical, organisational and work management aspects.

Admission conditions

The "licence" in Work Sciences comprises two years of studies and is accessible :

- to holders of a university first study cycle diploma ("candidat"), or a higher non-university long cycle study diploma ;
- to diploma holders of higher non-university short cycle such as :
 - social assistants and social advisors;
 - higher non-university study diploma holders ;
 - nurses and "educators" ;
- people whose professional assests are recognised by the admission jury on the basis of a special procedure including a test to verify their capacities.

Holders of another Belgian university degree may have access to this programme and benefit from a considerable number of dispensations in accordance with their previous studies (the cycle may be reduced to one year of studies depending on the case).

Holders of a diploma of a short cycle of higher non-university studies, as well as "candidats" of higher long cycle of non-university studies, will be subject to a test to verify their capabilities.

Admission procedure

Applicants for this programme will attend an information session. These sessions are organised from March to the beginning of September. They will hand in a questionnaire to apply for admission at the Institute of Work Sciences. Candidates with a foreign nationality (except for Luxemburgers) will also introduce an application to the central secretary's office for students : place de l'Université 1, 1348 Louvain-la-Neuve.

General structure of the programme

Only in the form of a staggered timetable

Programme content

TRAV 21 First year of studies

SOC2224	The sociology of organisations and organised action[30h] (3.5 credits) (in French)	Christian Maroy
TRAV2110	Work, institutions, economic and social actors[15h] (4 credits) (in French)	Nathalie Burnay
TRAV2111	Labour law[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Gilbert Demez
TRAV2114	Psycho sociological analysis of labour relations[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Thomas Perilleux
TRAV2115	Psychology of work[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Muriel Dumont

TRAV2133	Staff administration[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Philippe Barré
TRAV2212	Sociology of work[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Matthieu de Nanteuil-Miribel, Bernard Francq
TRAV2213	Sociology of social movements[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Jean-Marie Lacrosse
TRAV2219	Research methods in labour science[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Catherine Gourbin, Godelieve Stroobant
TRAV2223	Economic policy and work[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Eberhard Janssen
TRAV2312	Comparative training and employment systems[45h] (6 credits) (in French)	Christian Maroy, Béatrice Van Haepere
ANGL2432	English communication skills for students in labour sciences[30h] (3 credits)	Philippe Detry, Jennifer Moreman, Catherine Thewissen

If necessary, the students will have to consolidate their bases in Economics and Sociology by means of personal pieces of work and supervised studies to be carried out in the context of the courses

TRAV2223	Economic policy and work[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Eberhard Janssen
as well as
TRAV2212	Sociology of work[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Matthieu de Nanteuil-Miribel, Bernard Francq

Relevant instructions will be provided either during the courses or posted on the notice-board.

TRAV 22 Second year of studies

The second quadrimester may be heavy due to the seminar and to the completion of the end of course thesis. These students will therefore endeavour to go as far as possible during the course of the first quadrimester.

TRAV2112	Philosophy of work[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Hervé Pourtois
TRAV2113	Labour economics[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Muriel Dejemepe
TRAV2122	The law and the practice of collective labour relations[45h] (6 credits) (in French)	Gilbert Demez
TRAV2132	Business economics[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Alain Vas
TRAV2211	The Church's social teaching[15h] (2 credits) (in French)	Ignace Berten
TRAV2217	Health and the working environment[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Françoise Denis, Perrine Hoet, Florence Laigle
TRAV2218	The development of human resources and management instruments[45h] (6 credits) (in French)	Nathalie Delobbe
TRAV2220	Bargaining theory and practice[25h] (4 credits) (in French)	Pierre de Saint-Georges
TRAV2254	Multi disciplinary seminar on the issue of work[60h] (8 credits) (in French)	Bernard Nyssen, Armand Spineux, Béatrice Van Haepere, Béatrice Van Haepere (supplée Armand Spineux)
TRAV2313	Comparative social protection systems[45h] (6 credits) (in French)	Gabrielle Clotuche, Yannick Vanderborght
TRAV2290	Mémoire de fin d'études (in French)	N.
One course according to choice, from among the following two :
SPOL2122	Economic structures of Belgium[30h] (3.5 credits) (in French)	Guillaume Pierre Wunsch
ESPO2220	Globalisation of the economy and of society[30h] (4 credits) (in French)	Pierre Defraigne

Positioning of the degree within the University cursus

After completing the "licence" programme in Work Sciences, the students may obtain the teacher-training diploma for secondary school teaching, organised by the Faculty of Economic, Social and Political Sciences. The other departments of the Faculty offer cycles of studies especially destined for students already holding a "licence" diploma from the Faculty. Certain possibilities also exist in other faculties.