

Faculty of Law

ECRI2220 Criminology in practice : supporting seminar

[30h] 3 credits

Teacher(s): Christian-Paul De Valkeneer
Language: French
Level: Second cycle

Aims

The aim of this seminar is to enable students to collectively monitor the traineeships that they are required to carry out, with a view to giving this period of practical training greater importance within the study programme. The seminar will both enable students to analyse together any problems they come across during their training period and also give them a theoretical framework within which to reflect on their practical experience.

Main themes

The object of the seminar is, on the one hand, to make it possible to the students to analyze together the problems related to the course of their training course and, on the other hand, to bring theoretical tools of reflexion on this practice.

Content and teaching methods

Didacting team organizes supporting seminars existing of two components : feedback and guidance with the education training and supervision in the scope of training experiences.

The various sectors covered by the seminar of supervision of the training course are:

- police force and magistrature
- assistance and the protection of youth
- psychosocial interventions of the Adults
- execution of the sorrows and measurements

Other information (prerequisite, evaluation (assessment methods), course materials recommended readings, ...)

Evaluation on the spot : for the benefit of respect for the training providers and to give an idea of the integration and work attitude during the trainging and the quality of the assignment.

Evaluation of the written report of the assignment.

Other credits in programs

CRIM22 Deuxième licence en criminologie

Mandatory