Content and teaching methods

This course aims at teaching with the students the bases of the intervention of the teacher in physical education, mainly but not exclusively, in the educational circle. It makes it possible to the students to take note of the fundamental skills to control to give a good lesson of physical education and to try out them on the ground.

It also aims at enriching the knowledge which the students of the modes of intervention practised in the presence of pupils of secondary education have by proposing and trying out various less known styles of teaching, adapted to the taught disciplines.
