ROM2519 Hispano-American Literature II

[30h] 4 credits

This two-yearly course is taught in 2007-2008, 2009-2010,...

This course is taught in the 2nd semester

Teacher(s): Geneviève Fabry
Language: Spanish
Level: Second cycle

Aims

At the end of this course, the student:

- will be broadly familiar with continental and regional contemporary Spanish-American literature;
- will be able to analyse literary works (narrative and poetic) by situating them in their context and by identifying the aesthetic, philosophical, ideological, and/or political issues underlying them.

Main themes

The course will offer an overview of contemporary Hispano-American literature, from the "post-boom" until now, by putting forward a "red wire" which will be the subject of general theoretical consideration and of a series of particular analyses. Students will examine the historiography of contemporary literature and in particular the intertextual dimension of works and currents that appear within the framework of post-modernity in Latin America ("collage" poetry, the "new" historical novel, etc.), which will lead to a reconsideration of concepts such as multicultural identity and related to the national and continental history. These analyses will lead to a discussion of the circulation and reception of literary works in Latin America.

Content and teaching methods

The course will be based on a whole of readings for those theoretical questions examined in greater detail, as well on a series of literary works analysed in class.
